3 Ex-Champs Qualify For Playoffs

Phoenix Wins J.C. Tourney

Bears Beat Texans In National Meet

By JOE MUCH

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. Phoenix College played a long, strong suit in pitching to the National Junior College Athletic Assn. championship.

The Bears swept through the double-elimination tournament undefeated when they subdued surprising Tarleton State College of Stephenville, Tex., 8-4 in the finale.

A four-game tournament march gave the Bears a 34-4 record for the season and a 19-0 mark in junior college competition. They had finished third in the same tourney a year ago.

Tarleton (4-2) clinched second place by scoring nine runs in the seventh and eighth innings and homa A & M 16-15 in a wild semifinal game.

Behind Northeastern (3-2) upsetting Northeastern Oklahoma came a surprising host team, Mesa College (2-2), which expeled powerful Wilmington N. C., College (1-2) from competition.

Boise A & T and Wright Junior College of Chicago were locked for seventh.

Phoenix starters Noel Rudd and Rennie Crittenden, both lefties, along with righthanded relievers Dale Hippie and Mike Barnhardt posted pitching victories. Barnhardt won the finale with 81/3 innings of six-hit, 10-strikeout flinging against an explosive Tarleton team.

Bill Rix, Dennis Starkins and Larry Walker were offensive stars for the winners and were named to the All-Tourney team. But the tournament's most outstanding player by far was Tarleton catcher Mickey Lee, who caught six games in four days, three in the last 24 hours of the tourney. He hit .429 and led the field in runs-batted-in with 11.

The all-tournament team:

School Honors An Umpire!

DECORAH, Ia. — It is often said that everyone hates the umpire. Not so at Luther College where a veteran "man in blue" was honored for his lengthy service.

In a between games ceremony at the Luther-Central doubleheader at Decorah, Moppy Anderson of Preston, Minn., was presented a Luther varsity letter and a letterman's pass to all Norse athletic events. "L" Club representative Clay Lyon made the presentation.

In announcing the award, Athletic Director Hamlet Peterson stated that Moppy has been given the highest award an umpire can aspire to — a vote of confidence by Luther's opponents through the years.

"Moppy has never failed to be approved by the visiting team; a real tribute," he said.

Moppy — that's his legal name now although he was Christened with a more formal tag — has umpired virtually every Luther home baseball game for 35 years. He retired last season. He figures he has umpired over 1,200 games in his entire career.

Along with his association with Luther, Moppy listed a pitching assignment as the highlight of his career. He was selected starting pitcher on a 1915 all-star team in LaCrosse, Wis., to play against the St. Louis Cardinals.

He attended high school and business college in LaCrosse, Wis. His baseball days began in 1909 in LaCrosse and he continued an active pitching career for 24 more years. Although seeing a great amount of action in France during World War I, he still managed to get in a few games of baseball to keep his record intact.

Moppy was county treasurer for 28 years and has been a member-at-large from Fillmore and Houston counties to the Minnesota State Legislature for the past 10 years.

When asked to give the reason for his success he replied: "I've always been fair and honest and I'm a stubborn Scandinavian."

Oklahoma State Cowboys Retain Perch Atop College Baseball Poll

TUCSON — Oklahoma State, defending national champion, has held its position as the nation's No. 1 college baseball team.

Coach Toby Greene's Cowboys captured the Big 8 Conference championship last week and this was apparently enough to help them fight off balloting for Southern California.

The Trojans, getting the same amount of first place votes (11) as the Pokes, were in second place by a scant 8 votes.

Texas, kingpin of the Southwest Conference, moved up pointwise, while retaining its No. 3 spot of 2 weeks ago.

Minnesota, closing in on the Big 10 crown, held tight to its No. 4 spot; and Arizona stayed fifth. Minnesota got 1 first place vote and Arizona 3.

Mississippi, moved up a notch from seventh as it bounced Florida twice to take the Southeastern Conference laurels.

Three new teams jumped into the top 10 as Notre Dame, Fresno State and Ohio State stumbled.

Pepperdine's strong Waves, who collide with USC this weekend in District 8 playoff action, vaulted from 15th to seventh, replacing Arizona State, which dropped 1 place.

North Carolina, 16th in the last poll, climbed to ninth. The Tar Heels captured the Atlantic Coast Conference diadem and in the process won 11 straight games.

Ohio University, under Coach Bob Wren, continued its good play after clinching the Mid-American title and rose from 13th to 10th.

The second 10 with points:

1. Notre Dame, 49. 12. Connecticut, 43. 13. California, 37.

14. Iowa State, 36. 15. Delaware, 32. 16. The Citadel, 29. 17. Ohio State, 26. 18. Washington State, 21. 19. San Diego State, 20. 20. Army, 18.

Others receiving votes: Allen University, Fresno State, San Jose State, Sul Ross, Sam Houston State, Utah, Southern University, Detroit, Hofstra, Boston College, Holy Cross, Florida State, Miami (Fla.), Duke, Northwestern, Clemson, Los Angeles State, Colorado State College, Louisiana Tech.

Redskin Efforts All For Naught

JONESBORO, Ark. — Arkansas State College can score runs, but it has trouble winning ball games.

The Redskins battled for 13 innings against Murray State, but left the field with a 9-9 tie.

A week later, they came back to wage a 10-10 deadlock with St. Louis University. This game went 14 innings.

Both games lasted over 4 hours and were called because of darkness.

Trojans, Cowboys Join Texas

Pokes On Road To Defense Of Title

By ABE CHANIN

TUCSON — Three former national champions, including Oklahoma State's defending kingpins, already have qualified for the district playoffs — the big step to the 14th annual College World Series which opens June 10 in Omaha.

Oklahoma State wrapped up the Big 8 Conference championship in a crucial series with Iowa State. Iowa State could have stayed in the running by sweeping a 3-game series from the Cowpokes. But Oklahoma State's veteran ball club took a split in a doubleheader and the third game was rained out.

Coach Toby Greene, college baseball's Coach-of-the-Year in 1959, thus moves into a strong position to do what only 1 other school has been able to accomplish — win the national championships 2 consecutive years.

The only school to pull off that trick was the University of Texas and the Longhorns also have qualified for the 1960 playoffs. Texas showed unexpected strength in posting a 21-2 record and sweeping to the Southwest Conference championship. Texas, Houston and Arizona, No. 2 team in the College World Series last year, all are involved in the NCAA district 6 playoff.

Another former national champion marching into the playoffs is the University of Southern California. The sophomore-studded Trojans meet Pepperdine today in the opening of a best 2-of-3 series. Winner of the series will meet Washington State for the District 8 berth in the College World Series.

Here is the way district races are now shaping up across the country:

DISTRICT 1 — Seven teams are still in the running. Connecticut leads the Yankee Conference with the University of Maine still in contention. Other teams pushing for playoff berths are Springfield, Holy Cross, Colby, Boston College and American International.

DISTRICT 2 — Selected for the playoff are Hofstra (16-3), Metropolitan Conference champion; Delaware (12-6) of the Middle Atlantic Conference; Villanova (14-4) and Colgate (13-6).

DISTRICT 3 — The Citadel won the Southern Conference for 1 of the playoff berths. North Carolina will represent the Atlantic Coast Conference as league champion. There is still doubt as to the other 2 entries for the district playoff. Florida (16-14) will represent the Southeastern Conference in the playoff. Champion Mississippi passed up the playoff because of home-state color problems. The at-large berth in the playoff went to Florida Southern which finished with a 21-5 record.

Flawless Fielding Streak Stopped

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. — Jack Paisley, Seton Hall University's fine shortstop, had a day he'll not forget for a long time.

In the Pirates first 6 games, the soph handled 30 chances flawlessly. But in game No. 7 against Long Island University Jack made 6 errors, 4 in the final 2 innings to give the Blackbirds a 6-4 victory.

District 7 Playoff Plan Revised

By PAUL MOLONEY

GREELEY, Colo. — The 1960 District 7 playoffs were revised by the district committee to conform with the rule that not more than 1 team from a conference compete in a district NCAA play-off and to reduce traveling expenses.

Bud Daniel, Wyoming coach and district committee chairman, earlier had announced a 4-team playoff including the Skyline Eastern and Western Division champions, the Rocky Mountain Conference winner and an at-large entry. In this playoff the Skyline team faring the best would have been declared the 1960 conference champion.

Although the 4-team, double elimination playoff had been approved by the NCAA playoffs committee, the district group was advised that the NCAA executive committee would probably overrule the plan and that a revision be made to prevent complications with the College World Series opening June 10 at Omaha, Neb.

The new district schedule June 3-4 calls for a best-2-of-3-game series at the site of the Skyline Conference champion. The Skyline championship will be determined in a best-2-of-3-game series May 27-28 at Salt Lake City. Utah University successfully defended its Western Division title.

The Air Force Academy, the at-large entry, met Colorado State College, RMC champion, yesterday and again tomorrow to determine the other berth in the district playoff.

The Academy and CSC had regular season games scheduled May 26 and 28, and elected the same dates for the playoff since CSC is host to the Colorado State Class AA high school baseball playoffs May 27-28.

DISTRICT 7 NOTES: The Air Force Academy, playing its first season without freshman eligibility, gained its chance of making the district playoff by handing Colorado State University a double setback, 6-2 and 10-0, May 14. Terry Norris blanked out the Rams on 6 hits in the nightcap. The Falcons have won 11 and lost 8.

But the Rocky Mountain conference boasts the area's 3 outstanding hitters. They are Colorado State College's John Koehler, Adams State's Jim Workman and Western State's Ron Acre.

Koehler led CSC to 17-4 and 23-9 wins over Western State May 13-14 by collecting 8-for-9. This spree raised his season's average to .515. Workman's latest average is .512 and Acre's .409.

Another Colorado State College infielder recently enjoyed offensive excellence. Catcher John Groninger helped the Bears take over the RMC leadership by driving home 14 runs in CSC's 16-2 and 13-3 wins over previous loop leader Adams State May 6-7. Groninger is hitting .432.

Colorado State College's 6-man pitching staff holds the first 6 places in RMC earned run figures. They are Frank Carabajal, 4-0, 1.95; Ernie Andrade, 5-1, 2.04; Cisco Carlos, 3-4, 2.73; Gerald Maglia, 1-0, 2.88; Don Herrick, 4-2, 3.06; and Joe Duca, 1-1, 3.26. Nearest rival is Adams State's Bill Humphrey, 6-1, 3.95.

In the Skyline Western Division, a Utah pitcher, Bob Mosteller, is the leading hitter in league play with a .519 batting average. Butch Hendricks of Montana follows with a .469. There are 8 more .400 plus hitters in the Western Division. Bill Cowan, All-Skyline basketball player as well, is leading in homers with 5. Cowan is Utah's shortstop but was an All-District outfielder in 1959.

Jack Lambourne, winner of his 4 decisions, is tops in earned run average.

Another pitcher, Joe Allgood, of Colorado State University tops the Eastern Division hitters with a .421 average. Aggie teammate Ward Gates follows with a .382.

Pitching leader is Gig Brummell, New Mexico, 3-0 and 2.20.

Citadel Selected League Delegate

By STEVE GUBACK

RICHMOND — Front-runner from the season's opening weeks, The Citadel lost its next-to-the-last game this season — and was fit to be tied.

An 8-7 setback to lowly Davidson, the eighth-place team, cost the ambitious Bulldogs a chance for their first undisputed Southern Conference baseball championship.

That loss—and Richmond's 6-victory finishing streak—tossed the conference championship into an end-of-the-season tie. Both The Citadel and Richmond finished with 8-2 conference slates.

Richmond decided to bow out of consideration for the District 3 playoff spot.

"It wouldn't make any sense for us to go," said Coach Mac Pitt. "We have too many important men who'd be ineligible and we think the conference ought not to be represented by a team that's wrecked in this way."

Richmond would have had Pitcher Berry Swilling (6-0), plus Catcher Chuck Boone and Shortstop Alan Cole ineligible under the NCAA's 4-year ruling. All 3 played on the varsity as freshmen.

The Citadel loses several players, too, including 2 regulars — Pitcher Ed Colby (7-3) and Outfielder Tom Clary—but Athletic Director Eddie Teague said he thought the Bulldogs would make a good showing.

Spoilsport Davidson did its damage against The Citadel's best — Pitcher Dick Almes. Winner of 17 straight games since losing his first 2 in the 1959 season, Almes had a 7-1 lead when Davidson loaded the bases in the seventh. Harry Cline cleaned them with a triple, then scored on Ed Hines' single. In the eighth, with 2 on, Hines' wrong field single to left went between the legs of Outfielder Henry Mura and 3 runs scored for the victory.

The next day, The Citadel finished up its season with a 14-8 triumph over Davidson while Richmond used an unearned run in the eighth to top William and Mary, 3-2. Those victories sealed the first-place tie.

Richmond, although hitting only .275 as a team, finished with an overall 13-3 record. It got superb pitching from Swilling and Charlie Revere (7-2) and had the knack of winning the close games. It played 5 1-run conference games and won 4 of them, including the last 2 of the season — over Virginia Tech, 5-4, and William and Mary, 3-2.

It was the second time in the past 3 years that Richmond had tied for first place. In 1958, the Spiders won their last 4 to tie George Washington with 9-2 conference marks. GW went on to represent the league in the NCAA playoffs.

The Citadel, never better than third during the past 6 years, finished with a 17-4 overall ledger. As a team, the Bulldogs hit a robust .338 with Mura (.452) and Clary (.433) leading the way.

Rebels End With .318 Team B. A.

Gibbs' .400 Mark Sets Ole Miss Pace

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — Mississippi's Rebels, who made a shamass of this spring's Southeastern Conference baseball chase, finished with a .318 team batting average.

In regular-season results, and they posted a 20-3 record, the Rebels collected 254 hits in 798 at bats, including 22 home runs, 16 triples and 40 doubles. The 254 hits were good for 392 total bases and accounted for 170 of the 208 runs scored.

Jake Gibbs, who opened the season at shortstop and finished up at third base, his All-SEC berth a year ago, led the team at bat with an even .400 average.

With 50 at bats required for official certification, Gibbs collected 36 hits in 90 appearances. Bobby Kilpatrick, sophomore second baseman and the leadoff hitter throughout the season, trailed with .383, based on 36 hits in 94 at bats.

Other ranking hitters among the starters were Jamie Howell, centerfielder, .333; Bob Khayat, catcher, .321; Doug Elmore, right fielder, .310; Billy Ray Jones, left fielder, .287, and Ron Porter, pitcher-outfielder, .280.

Porter was the pitching leader on a won-lost basis with a 7-0 record. Denny Blomquist was 6-0 and compiled a 1.34 earned run average. Tommy Climer's record was 1-0 and 0.68. Larry Williams finished with a 6-2 record, an ERA of 1.89. Gerald Clark went 0-1 and 3.60.

Blomquist was the staff workhorse with 67 innings in 10 games. He fanned 64, issued 33 walks. Williams worked 62 innings in 10 games, fanned 68 and walked 16. Four of his 6 victories were shutout decisions. Porter appeared in 48 2/3 innings, fanning 45 and walking 22.

The team ERA was 2.44. Rebel pitchers gave up 83 runs, 55 of them earned, fanned 194 and issued 97 walks. There were 12 complete games, 5 by Williams, 4 by Blomquist, 2 by Porter and 1 by Climer.

Miami Compiles School's Best Record

MIAMI — The best baseball team in University of Miami history is the 1960 champion of the Florida Intercollegiate Conference.

Coach Whitey Campbell's Hurricanes clinched the title May 12 with a 3-1 victory over Tampa's Spartans at Tampa. The victory gave Miami a 12-2 conference record.

Florida Southern College, which also enjoyed a banner season, was only 1 game off the pace with an 11-3 FIC chart. Rollins finished third with a 10-4 record in the conference.

Miami finished its regular season with a 19-7 record. Four of the losses were to independent Florida State, not a member of the FIC. Florida Southern, coached by Hal Smeltz, closed with a sparkling 21-5 record. Rollins' final record was 17-5.

Indians Win Little 4 Loop Championship

NEWBERRY, S. C.—Newberry College has won its second consecutive Little 4 Conference championship, chalking up a 10-5 season's record.

In conference play, the Tribe won 4 and lost 1, the loss from Erskine, a 7-6 upset in the ninth inning. Thus, the Indians defended the league crown they have won 3 times in the past 5 years.

David Horton paced the club in hitting with a .408 average. Horton collected 20 hits in 49 trips to the plate, batted in 20 runs. As a pitcher, he won 2 and lost 1.

Wyman Taylor started 7 games on the mound and finished with 6 victories. During 63 innings of play, he had 39 strike outs and 28 walks.

Senior members of the club who have turned in their last performance include: Horton, Taylor, Raynold Stoudemayer, Mat Herndon, John Hudgens and David Eagerton.

Frost Bolster Seminole Hopes

TALLAHASSEE — If the success of Florida State University's freshman baseball team can be used as a measuring stick, things should be looking up for the Seminoles.

FSU's freshman club, coached by ex-Seminole infielder Phil Hunt, compiled an 8-1 record this season, losing its final game in 10 innings, 3-2, to the University of Florida freshmen.

Ironically, the FSU and Florida freshmen played 4 games and all were decided by 1 run. FSU's Baby Seminoles took the first 3 before Florida's frost spoiled an undefeated season in the final game.

Gators Blasted In SEC Playoffs

By PAT HOGAN

OXFORD, Miss. — Mississippi's well-balanced Rebels own their second consecutive Southeastern Conference baseball title, thanks to 2-game playoff sweep from the University of Florida.

Ole Miss, which breezed to the Western Division SEC crown with a 12-2 record, rallied to rout Florida, 15-7, in the first game of a best of 3 series at Gainesville, Fla., May 16. The Rebs wrapped it up in Oxford May 17 with a 6-1 nod over the Gators, Eastern Division SEC champs with a 12-6 reading.

As a result of the 2 game sweep, Coach Tom Swayze's Rebels finished with a 22-3 overall record, one of the nation's best. Florida logged in with a 16-14 season chart.

The pitching of Reliever Larry Williams and the batting of Third baseman Jake Gibbs sparked the Ole Miss playoff win. In the first game, Williams struck out 7 Gators in 4 1/3 innings, allowing 3 hits and 1 run.

A crowd of 1,200 at Gainesville saw Florida take leads of 3-0, 4-2, and 7-5 before falling to a 10-run Mississippi barrage in the seventh and eighth innings.

In the deciding game at Oxford, starter Denny Blomquist and Williams tamed Florida on 3 hits, with Williams fanning 5 more Gators in 3 1/3 innings of relief.

Gibbs had a red-hot series. He drove in 4 runs with 3 hits in the first game and batted in 2 runs with a double and 2 singles in the second game.

Editorial CommentEducation Part Of College Game

A reader of COLLEGIATE BASEBALL asks why college coaches do not go into the coaching boxes at first and third bases.

The question is a good one and the answer demonstrates a prime difference between professional and college baseball.

In professional baseball the main purpose of playing the game is to win. Therefore the manager or coach mans the coaching boxes.

But there is more than winning to college baseball. Among the purposes of college baseball are instruction, education, recreation and entertainment.

When a player finishes his collegiate career, he is capable of coaching baseball as well as playing the sport. He has learned the techniques of the game and also the inside strategy.

The coach of a college team sends his players to the coaching boxes so that they can learn baseball strategy.

When the NCAA put together its own set of baseball rules 3 years ago, there were many differences from professional rules. One of the main differences is the rule which calls for only players to work in the coaching boxes.

In collegiate baseball the coach's place is on the bench. The playing field belongs to the player.

Press BoxArizona's Hall Breaks 'Jinx'

By ABE CHANIN

Collegiate Baseball Editor

COVER BOY JINX?—They're watching to see if Arizona Catcher Alan Hall will break the cover boy jinx.

The first NCAA Baseball Guide carried the picture of Marsh McLean of Amherst. McLean had earned the honor by hitting .447 in 1957. But he fell out of the nation's leaders in 1958.

The 1960 Guide featured Hall. But Hall wasn't bothered by the cover jinx. He hit .418 in 46 regular season games.

Now the 1960 Guide features Hall. But Hall is threatening to break the cover jinx. He hit .408 through the first 20 games of the '60 season.

Where do most of the injuries occur on the baseball field?

In a recent survey of the Babe Ruth League, the Hartford Accident Indemnity Co. found that 36.4 per cent of baseball injuries occur in running and sliding.

Pitched balls are the No. 2 culprit. They caused 20.5 per cent of accidents in the Babe Ruth League last season. Also ranking high were collisions, 18.9 per cent; batted balls, 15.4 per cent; and thrown balls, 8.8 per cent.

The defensive player is the most vulnerable, suffering 47.2 per cent of the injuries. Base-runners were involved in 36.8 per cent and the batters, whom you would think would be most vulnerable, suffered only 16 per cent of the injuries.

As a tip to collegiate coaches, it should be noted that when results of the accident survey were made known, Babe Ruth League officials stressed the importance of teaching the proper methods of sliding.

ANOTHER SCOUT was talking about the change in talent-hunting these days.

"With the minor leagues reduced," he was saying, "we've changed our scouting. The inter-league trading rule keeps us in closer tabs with the other major league teams and we find we're spending more and more time following the kids on the high school and college baseball diamonds."

"I know I've more than doubled the time I used to spend looking at schoolboys. New high schools are popping up all over and we're finding that the colleges are playing more games—and they're playing better baseball, too, today."

Correspondent's CornerThis Advice: 'Oh, So True'

By BILL RICHARDSON

District 5 Correspondent

Now in his seventh season as head coach at Kansas, Floyd Temple has established a record for tenure among Jayhawk baseball coaches.

Prior to that, he was a third baseman on K.U.'s last Big 8 championship club, the 1949 outfit. He has managed and played for outstanding semi-pro clubs in Kansas and Canada, and even had a brief minor league career.

Several of his players have gone into professional ball, including Bob Allison, slugging star of the Washington Senators.

With such a varied background, Temple seems well-qualified to speak on college baseball's most controversial issue today—the signing of underclassmen to professional contracts.

"If a boy gets a big bonus, there's not much you can say about that," Temple said. "What I'm against is a professional team signing boys for small bonuses ($3,000-$4,000) and taking them out of college.

"Chances are, those boys won't make the majors. Even if they come back to school, they are only enrolled about a semester a year. Then there's the possibility they will get married in the meantime and have a family. When they have to put food on the table, they'll have to go to work. And then, they will likely drop out of school altogether to work full-time. They've lost their chance for an education, and without that degree, they may find the going rough after their baseball days are over."

"Now, if the boy offered the small bonus would pass it up until after he has completed his college work he would be better off. We could use ball players like them on our college teams. Maybe they could develop enough to be ready for pro ball and, of course, they would have their degrees."

Sounds like good advice, Floyd, and oh, so true.

Meeting Set For OmahaBaseball Writers' Assn. Planned

By BOB CULP

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—The organizational meeting of the proposed COLLEGIATE BASEBALL WRITERS of AMERICA will be held in conjunction with the NCAA World Series at Omaha, Neb. The meeting is scheduled for Saturday morning, June 11th. Meeting time and place will be posted at tournament headquarters in the Hotel Fontenelle, Omaha.

Since a few persons have been involved in advance planning, the organizational meeting should develop from a tentative state a positive one.

Some of the immediate possible functions which the group can serve include:

(1) Taking over the All-America selections (this would seem to be the most objective and easiest method of selection).

(2) Taking over responsibility of the World Series press box facilities each year.

(3) Taking over the annual Charles Riley Writing and Photography Awards (this, too, would lessen the burden on the coaching groups).

(4) Set up an active program to disseminate collegiate baseball information more evenly and thoroughly across the nation.

(5) Adopt special collegiate scoring rules and distribute copies of the collegiate playing rules (so that there would be a finer system of scoring and playing under collegiate rules in the future).

Sincere hopes are that many of the nation's top collegiate writers and athletic publicity directors will attend the first meetings in Omaha. Because it is a new group, committees will have to be established and aligned.

Perhaps committees such as membership, ethics, constitution, awards-prizes, press box, All-American, promotion, rules-scoring and advertising will be announced.

It therefore is important that as many writers as possible attend the Omaha, Neb., meeting.

COLLEGIATE BASEBALLThe Coaching Box

By JACK BAER

Head Baseball Coach
University of Oklahoma

Many coaches have asked me to give them copies of the check-off list I use at the University of Oklahoma.

Here's the list that I have found to be very useful in our baseball program:

Conditioning — 1. As a squad; 2. Groups or Positions; 3. Drills for Squad; 4. Drills for Group.

Pitchers — 1. Throwing to Glove; 2. Men on Base; 3. Batting Practice; 4. Fielding Bunts; 5. Fielding Batted Balls; 6. Covering and Backing up Bases

Catchers — 1. Warming up Pitchers; 2. Batting Practice; 3. Throwing with Men Stealing; 4. Fielding Fly Balls and Bunts; 5. Pick Off Plays; 6. Covering and Backing up Bases.

Infielders — 1. Fielding Drills; 2. Infield Drills during Batting Practice; 3. Infield Drill; 4. Covering Bases; 5. Cutoff Drills; 6. Calling and Catching Fly Balls.

Outfielders — 1. Fielding Drill; 2. Fly Ball Drill; 3. Ground Ball Drill; 4. Throwing Drill to Bases and Cutoff Men.

Team Defense — 1. Situation Drill; 2. Holding Men on Base; 3. Cutoff Men in Different Situations; 4. Bunting Drill; 5. Rundown Drill; 6. Intentional Base on Balls.

Team Offense — 1. Bunting Drag and Push and Squeeze; 2. Hitting; 3. Base Running, Steal and Double Steal; 4. Signal Drill Bunt, Take, Steal.

The Second Base Coach

By J. F. McKALE

Not so long ago an old gentleman named Frank Frisch said that "Big league baseball is becoming absolutely dull, the managers and players take so much time to think". The average game this season takes about 2 hours and 45 minutes.

Compare the time it takes to play a ball game today with that of years ago. Use the World Series as an example. In 1908 the Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers played 5 games with the average time of 1 hour and 46 minutes. The average number of runs scored per game was 6. Their final game that year was completed in 1 hour and 25 minutes.

In the 1929 World Series the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs averaged 2 hours and 7 minutes, with 8.6 runs per game. In 1959 the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Chicago White Sox used 2 hours and 33 minutes per contest, scoring an average of 7.33 runs.

Is it necessary to take three-fourths of an hour more to play a baseball game today than it did 50 years ago? The rules haven't changed. The number of runs scored today is almost identical. Two more umpires are used to avoid rhubarbs. It just occurred to us that several barrels of beer, and a ton of hot dogs can be sold in 45 minutes.

Baseball is called the national pastime. It is truly a great game, otherwise it would have been killed years ago. All of our other popular team sports are filled with action without the unnecessary delaying tactics. In general, the colleges have succeeded in speeding up the game, but we are sorry to note that some college coaches attempt to ape the "pros". They seem to believe in conferences at the summit. It should be noted that this procedure is absent when the College World Series is played at Omaha.

During almost every telecast of a big league baseball game, the announcer comes up with the usual wheeze, "It's fun to be a fan. Go out to your local ball park and support your team". How many do it? After sitting in an easy chair, often for 3 weary hours watching a big league contest, during which the managers take many minutes to think, and the players use more to horse around, it would really take a martyr to dash out to the local pasture. He's had it for the day as far as baseball is concerned.

Two weeks from today on June 10th, the College World Series opens in Omaha.

AUSTIN, Tex. — A team with ready-made "pick me ups" are the Texas Longhorns, champions of the Southwest Conference for the third time in the last 4 years.

Coach Bibb Falk's crew romped to a 21-2 record, best in the school's history since the 1924 team of Billy Disch went 29-1.

In the conference, the Longhorns (13-2) enjoyed a 3-game bulge over runners-up Rice and Baylor (both 10-5). One of the big reasons for the club's success is a heavy-hitting lineup, where 1 player might slump but another picks him up.

Texas, as might be expected, concluded with several individual conference titlists in its fold. Wayne McDonald finished strong to deadlock Byron Barber of Texas A & M for the SWC home run crown. Both hit 5 in conference play, but Barber whacked 7 for the year and McDonald 6.

The Longhorns also claimed the conference's runs-batted-in king in Outfielder Roy Menge (25), and the leading 2 pitchers in sophs Tom Belcher (6-0) and Bobby Callaway (5-1).

Doug Moore of Texas Christian is the league's batting king. Moore finished with a .450 average (18-for-40) to beat out Rice Outfielder Bobby Lively's .412.

For Texas it was usually a case of 1 Longhorn picking up when another let down. Consider these figures:

Menge vs. TCU (4-for-5, 2 homers, 8 RBI), McDonald vs. SMU (3-for-5, 1 HR, 4 RBI), Arnette vs. SMU (4-for-5, 1 HR, 4 RBI), Second baseman Pat Rigby vs. Rice (2-for-5, 1 HR, 3 RBI), Shortstop Bart Shirley vs. Baylor (3-for-3, 2 RBI) and Catcher John Mayer vs. Baylor (3-for-4, 4 RBI).

Belcher and Callaway, who turned in the only 2 complete games for Texas this season, were tops on the pitching end. But somewhat overlooked was relief pitcher Roy Enderlin.

Enderlin, a senior and converted infielder, appeared in 7 conference games in relief — a total of 9 1/3 innings — without permitting a single run. In all, he's drawn 9 straight assignments during which he was un-scored on, yielding but 1 hit the last 11 1/3 innings.

Bobby Barnett of Baylor posted the third-best record in the conference at 5-2, followed by Jerrill Springer (3-1) a 4-hit, 40-winner over SMU in the season final, and Paul Timme (4-2) of Rice and SMU's Jerry Wolf (4-4).

Waner Brothers Receive NAIA Honor

KANSAS CITY — Paul and Lloyd Waner, one-time stars with the Pittsburgh Pirates, are among 4 men named to the newly established baseball section in the Hall of Fame of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Paul, who lives in Philadelphia, and Lloyd whose home is in Oklahoma City, were named for their playing both in the major leagues and at East Central Oklahoma State College.

Named to the coaches section were Rankin Williams, athletic director and baseball coach at Southwestern Oklahoma State College, and Sigurd S. Reque, former athletic director and baseball coach at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa.

The 4 will be installed June 5 at Sioux City, Iowa during the NAIA baseball championships.

Penn Pair Draws Raves

PHILADELPHIA — The University of Pennsylvania, winner of 10 out of 14 games, has 2 men who have caught the eye of collegiate baseball fans in the Philadelphia area.

Sophomore southpaw pitcher Grover Powell (3-1) has drawn rave notices by fanning 69 in 42 innings, permitting 14 earned runs for a 2.99 average. In his 3 triumphs, Powell has wiped out 49 enemy batsmen by the strike out route in 26 2/3 innings of work and allowed only 6 runs.

The other outstanding member of Coach Jack McCloskey's Quakers is Third baseman Bill Kesack, a senior from Allentown.

Regular end on Pennsylvania's Ivy League championship football team, Kesack has come back strong after missing last season because of scholastic problems.

Kesack has batted safely in 13 of 14 games and currently is hitting .456 by collecting 26 hits in 57 trips to the plate, including 3 doubles, 2 triples, a pair of home runs and 11 runs batted in.

In back-to-back games with Harvard and Yale, Kesack went 8 for 9 and currently is pacing the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League with a gaudy .481 mark after 7 of the Red and Blue's 9 league encounters. He is the man to beat for the sterling silver Blair Memorial Bat, last won by a Pennsylvanian when Shortstop Mike Dalton led the league 5 years ago.

Powell is certainly the most exciting Pennsylvania twirler in the last 20 years. Yet there was doubt whether he would ever pitch a varsity game. A broken wrist sustained in a high school football game never healed properly. His right wrist was in a cast for over 2 years until just before the opening of the current season. In fact, he pitched with his arm in a cast as a freshman last year when he racked up 5 triumphs.

Colorado State Wins 19th Crown

GREELEY, Colo. — Colorado State College has captured its 19th Rocky Mountain Conference baseball championship.

The Bears, coached by the veteran Pete Butler, won the title by routing Adams State of Colorado by scores of 13-5 and 15-6.

Tar Heels Picking Up Momentum

11-Game Win Skein Nets ACC Crown

By GRADY ELMORE

RALEIGH, N. C. — North Carolina's Tar Heels didn't need a playoff to win out for the first time in the Atlantic Coast Conference, where post-season games had been necessary for the past 2 years.

But despite an 11-game victory streak as the finishing kick for the champs, it took them 5 extra innings to nose out Duke, 6-3, on the season's last day.

That 11-game win surge, capped by 2 clutch pitching performances by senior righthander Wayne Young, carried Carolina from the bottom of the pile to the top of the ACC heap in a campaign as close as any, even without playoffs.

During the climactic week, in which Carolina got its last 5 triumphs, Coach Walter Rabb's club twice had to go into extra innings and 3 times survived by only 1 run. There were wins over Wake Forest, 2-1, South Carolina, 3-2 (12 innings) and N. C. State, 1-0, and 2 6-3 decisions, at Clemson and at Duke. Young, who turned in a magnificent 2-hitter, facing only 28 batters, in eliminating State, came on in relief 2 days later at Duke. He set the second-place Blue Devils down without a run over the last 8 and two-thirds innings of the 14-inning showdown, and also got a bases-loaded single in the top of the 14th that scored 2 runs and broke the 3-3 tie existing since the sixth.

There were close ones for the other contenders, too. Most notable was State's 8-7 win in 12 innings at Clemson that ousted the defending champion Tigers. Only 5 days before, after Clemson had swept 2 games from Duke to reach first place, South Carolina had spilled the Tigers, 2-1, despite being outhit 11 to 4.

In the Carolina-Duke showdown game, Blue Devil sophomore Don Altman, the ACC's biggest winner and most effective hurler, didn't allow a single earned run but suffered his second loss in 10 decisions.

ACC NOTES: Carolina's Young now has won 20 games as a college pitcher. By giving up no earned runs in his last 37 innings of pitching, Wayne finished the season with a sparkling 1.09 earned-run-average. He had an ERA of less than 1.00 as a sophomore. The top Tar Heel batter of a year ago, Johnny Burgwyn, came out on top again. He batted .324 last season and .325 this time. Third baseman Ferg Norton hit .307 and Centerfielder Gerald Griffin hit .300.

State's low man a year ago, Jimmy Cox, was high this season, hitting .369 after last year's .136 mark.

The best players in the ACC? State Coach Vic Sorrell, former Detroit Tiger, singles out Duke sophomore hurler Altman and Clemson senior slugger Ty Cline as the finest of a list also including Carolina's Young, Wake Forest's Bob Plemmons and State's Joel Gibson and Wilson Carruthers, among the pitchers, and Maryland Catcher Phil Rogers and Infelder Don Santo, Carolina's Norton and Burgwyn, Wake Forest's Charlie Forte and State Catcher Edgar Ray Perry.

Karow Seeking Suggestions For Clinic

COLUMBUS — Marty Karow, chairman of the coaching clinic for the annual convention of the American Assn. of College Baseball Coaches, is making a special appeal to fellow coaches.

He'd like to get your suggestions for personnel to be invited to the 1961 clinic to be held in Pittsburgh. At the 1960 convention, members of the New York Yankees appeared on the clinic.

Marty asks that you send your suggestions on personnel and topics for the 1961 clinic to him at Ohio State University in Columbus.

Eagle Stars Surpass 8 Club Records

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Winners of their first 8 regular season games and boasting victories over Davidson, Kentucky U., Florida State and South Carolina, the Georgia Southern College Eagles have had 1 of their finest seasons.

The Eagles racked up 8 team and individual records this season on the way to a 15-8 overall record, and they are not shy about a "have team, will travel" attitude. They are one of the strong teams of the NAIA's Southeastern Area (No. 7).

Pitcher, Ray Mims, a sophomore, figured in 4 of the 8 records broken this season. He registered the most strikeouts for a Georgia Southern player in his career, 204; most walks, career, 120; most strikeouts, season, 74; and he handled 13 defensive plays without error to tie Clyde Miller's mark set a year ago.

Miller Finley, left fielder, set a record of 42 straight games without an error and a record of 7 assists. Miller, who is team pitching leader with 6-1 and 2 "saves" in relief, had an earned run average of 1.44 for 50 innings, breaking Clyde Little's 1955 mark of 1.71. Freshman Shortstop Bill Griffin hit in 18 straight games, also a record.

Team batting leader was Tom Moody with .377. Griffin is next at .353. J. E. Rowe is the team's other full-time heavy hitter with a .333. Finley leads in RBI with 21 and slugging with .543.

Utah Captures Division Title

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — The University of Utah, losing only 2 to 12 games, took the Western Division championship of the Skyline Conference.

New Mexico is out in front of the Eastern Division with 2 games left to play.

Utah will meet the Western champ Wyoming for the Skyline title. Then the Skyline champion will go in to the NCAA District 7 playoff against the winner of the first round series between the Air Force Academy and Colorado State College.

Pokes On Road To Defense Of Title

DISTRICT 4 — Ohio University won the Mid-American Conference with a brilliant record and qualified early for the playoffs. Minnesota currently leads the Big 10. Among the stronger independents shooting for the playoff spot are Notre Dame, Detroit and Wittenburg.

DISTRICT 5 — Oklahoma State, 1959 College World Series champion, qualified for the playoffs by winning the championship of the Big 8 Conference. Other playoff entries are not yet set.

DISTRICT 6 — The University of Texas, winner of the Southwest Conference, and the University of Arizona, at-large selection, were the first teams selected for the playoffs. Texas has a 21-2 record and busy Arizona a 39-7 mark. The University of Houston also qualified for the 3-way playoff by defeating Cincinnati for the Missouri Valley Conference championship. The final playoff probably will come June 2-3-4.

DISTRICT 7 — Colorado State College, coached by the veteran Pete Butler, won its 19th Rocky Mountain Conference championship to advance to the district playoffs. The Bears whipped Adams State of Colorado, 13-5 and 15-6, for the title. This week (Thursday and Saturday) Colorado State College meets the Air Force Academy in a best 2-out-of-3 series in the opening round of the playoffs. It is the first time the new AF Academy has gained the NCAA playoffs. The Falcons have an 11-8 season's record. The winner of this series will go against the Skyline Conference champion after its playoffs.

Pres Summerhays' University of Utah Redskins won the Western Division of the Skyline Conference with Jack Lambourne hurling his sixth win of the season in a 12-2 victory over second-place Brigham Young. Wyoming won the Eastern title by downing New Mexico, 11-8 and 11-10.

DISTRICT 8 — Pepperdine College, powerful independent of the west coast, was picked for the playoffs and quickly advanced by defeating San Diego State College and then San Jose State. Pepperdine will meet the University of Southern California Trojans in the southern playoff. USC won the California Intercollegiate Baseball Assn. spot by toppling Stanford. The winner of the Pepperdine-USC game will travel north to meet Washington State for the District 8 spot in the College World Series.

Deltans Record Solid 12-4 Mark

CLEVELAND, Miss. — Delta State College finished its first season under the guidance of Dave "Boo" Ferriss, former Boston Red Sox mound star and pitching coach, with a 12-4 record, 1 of the best marks ever compiled at the Delta school.

Bobby Longordo, senior shortstop, was the leading hitter with a .412 batting average.

Longordo had the most hits, 21, and led in RBI with 18, followed by Rightfielder F. E. Allegrezz and Centerfielder Don Ward with 17 each.

Allegrezz led the Statesmen in home runs with 6 and his 18 runs scored was also tops for the team.

Third baseman Bob Brumfield ended the season with a .364 average. Allegrezz at .327 and Ward at .303 were the only other Statesmen hitting over .300.

The Statesmen pitchers were A. C. Williams (3-9), Paul Wood (4-1), Robert McGraw (3-1) and Bud Grimmett (2-1).

Troy Unseated As Coast's Best

By GEORGE WATSON

LOS ANGELES—Pepperdine's long-ball swatting Waves have unseated Southern California as the No. 1 team in this area, receiving a majority of votes in a poll taken at the conclusion of the regular season.

Finishing behind the Peps were the Trojans, long the perennial power among colleges in the Southland.

The complete result of the poll:

1. Pepperdine
2. USC
3. San Diego State
4. LA State
5. Cal Poly (Pomona)
6. UCLA
7. Long Beach
8. Tie between Redlands and Occidental

In nabbing the rank as the "number 1 team," Coach John Scolinos' club wound up the 1960 campaign with a remarkable 33-10 record. Starting on February 16 with a 6-2 victory over the Negro Major League All-Stars, the Waves rolled to their greatest season. Only other year compared to this campaign was Scolinos' first in 1946 when the Peps chalked up a 27-4 slate.

Besides the opening triumph over the major leaguers, the Peps downed such potent teams as the Chicago White Sox Rookies, Los Angeles Dodger All-Stars, Arizona, Arizona State, UCLA, San Diego Marines, San Diego State, Brigham Young, San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast

It's SC Vs. Pepperdine

LOS ANGELES—Pepperdine College and the University of Southern California open a best 2-out-of-3 series for the collegiate baseball championship of the state of California today.

The victor also travels north to meet Washington State College for the District 8 berth in the College World Series.

Pepperdine, now with a 33-10 overall record, moved into the playoff with USC by defeating San Diego State, 3-2, and San Jose State, 6-5, in the first 2 rounds of the playoff.

USC's Trojans moved into the playoff by taking a 2-game series from Stanford's Indians by scores of 9-3 and 19-6. California meanwhile defeated Santa Clara, 3-2, to close out the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association in a tie with USC.

Both SC and Cal have 12-4 final records in the CIBA, but by virtue of a league ruling the Trojans won the playoff bid. The rule gives the nod to the team which had won the most games from the other and USC had won 3 of 4 games from California earlier in the season.

League, Visalia of the California League, Fresno State, New Mexico, Stanford, USC, Santa Clara and California.

In addition, the Waves hold the distinct honor of defeating every team in the powerful CIBA. The Waves whipped their chief rival, Loyola, twice and made it 32 victories in 37 outings for Scolinos against his cross-town foes.

Big guns for the Waves were Catcher Clark Rex with a .318 average; Southpaw chucker Ben Burnett with a 9-1 mark; the relief twirling of senior Ray Sims; Third baseman Bob Hammett with 42 RBI's, 13 doubles and 10 home runs; and First baseman Cliff Warren with a .310 average.

Despite a "rash" of minor injuries and lack of depth on the bench, Pepperdine still came through with many victories.

"This is the finest group of players I've ever coached—our winning was strictly a team affair," says Scolinos.

L. A. AREA NOTES — Hats off Braven Dyer Jr. of the CCAA, Don Simonian of SC and Jim Mangan of Long Beach State for a tremendous job of publicizing college baseball. These men didn't miss a single week in mailing out releases or making telephone calls on batting, fielding and pitching averages, and other pertinent information.

Daniel Pushes Membership Campaign

LARAMIE, Wyoming — An intensive campaign to boost the membership of the American Assn. of College Baseball Coaches has been launched by Glen R. (Bud) Daniel, University of Wyoming coach and chairman of the AACBC membership committee.

Daniel, in pushing the membership drive to all collegiate baseball coaches, said: "We need your help. The future of collegiate baseball has never been brighter, but we can't sit on our hands. We need a strong national organization more than ever."

Massey's bonus is the biggest received by a collegian this year. A freshman, Massey posted a 6-0 record, with 82 strikeouts in 50 innings.

Though Massey's bonus is the largest thus far, there has been a flurry of pro signings as the collegiate baseball season nears its end.

Among the others: Camilo Estevan, New Mexico Highlands pitcher, by the Los Angeles Dodgers. . . Leon Hawker, Hampden-Sydney shortstop, by the Dodgers. . . Carl Mutert, Rollins freshman catcher, by the Philadelphia Phillies. . . Chuck Boone, Richmond catcher, by the Richmond International League team.

"The future with the pros grows brighter as they seem to be forcing themselves into some type of a mutual agreement with college baseball. The College World Series grows bigger and bigger."

"And more colleges now are entering into strong baseball programs. Further it should be pointed out that educational demands make college a MUST for all high school grads."

Coaches interested in joining the AACBC can write Daniel at the University of Wyoming in Laramie; Lee Elbracht, University of Illinois; Champaign, Ill.; or J. Kyle Anderson, 5640 University Avenue, Chicago, 37, Ill.

Washington State Captures Crown

By JOHN OWEN

SEATTLE — Washington State Coach Buck Bailey, a grizzled veteran of 33 collegiate baseball campaigns, finally became a "bride."

For the past 2 seasons Bailey and his Cougar clouts have been the bridesmaids of the Northern Division, finishing second in the loop standings both years. And Buck, whose teams have won 12 championships since 1926, was beginning to think he'd never lick the 13 jinx. He'd been out of the money since 1956.

But when cross-state rival Washington swept a 2-game series with Oregon recently, Washington State clinched the pennant. And nobody is claiming the Cougars backed into the title. They won it by bowing over their closest rivals — the Oregon Ducks and Oregon State Beavers.

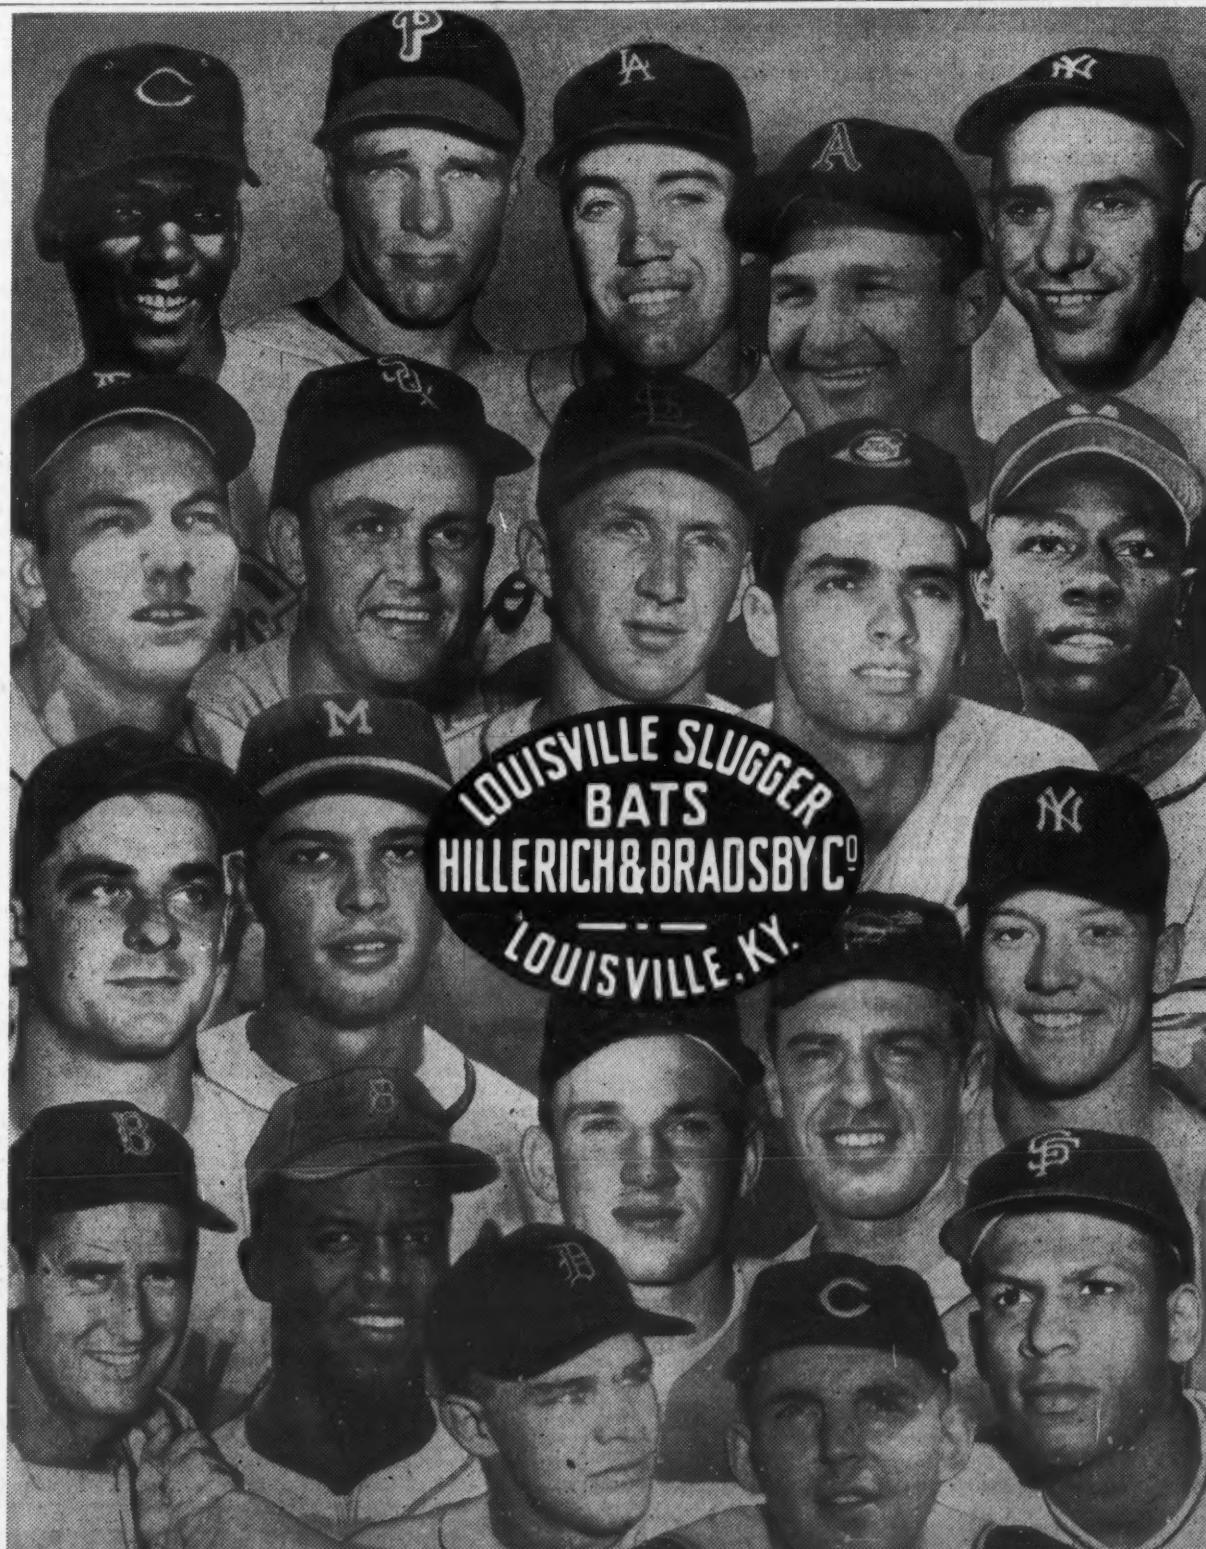

A pair of Billings, Mont., hurlers knocked Oregon State from the league's top rung. Dick Monte pitched a 6-hit shutout as the Cougars won the opener, 3-0, and Elwood Hahn followed with another 6-hit mound performance and was backed by a 15-hit attack as Washington State took the second game, 11-2.

Action against Oregon was limited to a single game because of rain, but the Cougars made their victory an emphatic one, clobbering the Ducks, 11-3, with a base-hit barrage sparked by Pat Crook and Arne Pleasant.

The past few seasons Washington State fielded probably the finest mound corps in the Northwest, but lacked the hitters. This season Bailey found the power punch. And he also found the elusive 13th championship.

Although it didn't show in the box score, Umpire Stan Naccarato should get credit for an assist in Washington's 2-game win over Oregon. Naccarato awarded the second game to Washington by a 7-0 forfeit score when Oregon Coach Don Kirsch refused to leave the field after a disputed call. Kirsch also held up the first game for 15 minutes attempting to reverse a decision.

NORTH COUNTRY NOTES: Oregon State's Larry Peterson leads Northern Division hitters with a .469 average. Washington State's Marv Marchbank is next with .364. . . Whitworth's Tom Ingram has hurled 21 scoreless innings and 29 without allowing an earned run. . . Portland State (9-11) is led by the bats of Howard Fetz (.389), Ron Henry (.345) and Dick Peters (.342). Gene Klein (3-3) has a 2.52 ERA.

The BAT of the CHAMPIONS

Final Score: 33-1

This Is Baseball?

SEGUIN, Tex.—Honest, it was a baseball game.

The score, however, didn't indicate it. Texas Lutheran College wound up its 1960 season by walloping the University of Corpus Christi Tarpoms, 33-7, at Corpus Christi.

True, it was cool football weather as the Lutherans got into the game with a football score 14-run first inning eruption. Two hitters—freshmen Billy Russell and Dave Holmstrom—each collected 2 safeties in that first inning nightmare for the Tarpoms.

Gary Wilson, TLC's freshman righthander, helped his own cause by driving in 6 runs with a double and a single. Both times the sacks were loaded.

Wilson, although needing help, gained credit for his fourth win of the year against 5 losses. Texas Lutheran wound up with an 11-12 record as it collected 22 hits in the game.

Holmstrom and Lonnie Anderson led hitters with 3 hits each.

N.Y. Night Game Proves Success

By TOM O'SHEA

NEW YORK — They said it couldn't be done... but the first regular-season night game in New York collegiate baseball history raised the game to heights never before reached.

The May 12 game attracted the largest crowd in New York collegiate history — 2,300 fans. They jammed the stands at Barasch Field, Rockville Center, Long Island, and overflowed along the foul lines. And they came despite late afternoon showers and an ominous-looking sky.

Hofstra College and St. John's University were the opponents

NEW YORK — Two blase New York sports writers had their eyes opened at the Hofstra-St. John's night game on May 12. Surveying the crowd of 2,300 as the game began, both agreed on the size of the crowd, but 1 added: "It might just be the novelty of a night game... Let's see how many are still here in the ninth inning."

When the last out in the ninth inning clinched a 2-1 victory for St. John's, 2,300 people started for home.

and the sight of so many fans seemed to inspire the players. They played a brand of baseball pleasing to any spectator and St. John's won, 2-1, in one of the finest Metropolitan Collegiate Conference games of the season.

Hofstra entered the game with a 10-1 record and needed a win to clinch at least a tie for the conference championship. St. John's had recovered from a disastrous start and had won 4 straight. The Redmen were gunning for second place in the conference.

But the big story was the crowd... and the huge turnout proved that college baseball can and will attract attention in New York. "It proves we knew what we were talking about when we said there was interest in college baseball," said John LaPlace, president of the Met Conference. "We hope to play more night games next year at other fields in the New York area." Colleges and universities throughout the area were waiting to see if the experiment would succeed. They have the answer now.

DISTRICT 2 NOTES: Vic Cohen (.385) and Joe Kaminski (5-2 won-loss record) lead Stevens Tech (6-4-1). . . Adelphi (8-8) is being paced by Soph Art Wuder, who is hitting at a .339 pace. Bob Landauer (4-3) has whiffed 57 in 53 innings. . . Wilkes College (3-9) is being led at bat by Walter Folek with a .370 batting mark. . . Duquesne's Mickey McLennan is hitting at a .400 pace. The Dukes have won 6 and lost 2. . . Ithaca has 6 regulars hitting above .300. Brian Mee (.464) and Jim Russin (.419) are the leaders. . . Joel Ess is Clarkson's best hitter with a .304 average.

Norman Phillips of Washington College is hitting .534. One of the school's best basketball players, he got 11 straight hits during this year's baseball stint. . . Juniata (6-2) is led by Don Ross' .394 average. Bill Berrier is next at .353 and has hit 5 homers. Bill Miller is 3-0 with a 2.95 ERA. . . Villanova's Fred Anthony is out for the season with a broken collarbone. He was hitting .484 when sidelined. Teammate Phil Fidalgo has a 6-0 record with a 1.82 earned run average. . . Ralph Maru tops Oswego State batters with a .463 average.

Hobart's Fred Merle is hitting at a .333 pace. . . Gettysburg is led by Gordon Kissner's .367 and Mel Jacobs' 4-1 pitching record. . .

All-Big Eight Team Difficult To Choose

By BILL RICHARDSON

KANSAS CITY — Picking an all-star team in the Big 8 conference this season would have to be a difficult job.

For one thing, several members of the 1959 all-league team were back and playing well enough to merit consideration as repeaters.

For another, a strong corps of sophomores emerged on the scene with brilliant performances and had to be reckoned with when the selections were made.

Breaking it down by teams, here are the players who have attracted much attention this spring:

Oklahoma State — The national champion Cowboys have Jim Dobson, third baseman last season and now an outfielder who has continued to hit the long ball despite a drop in his batting average. Ray Bond, catcher, is the club's leading hitter and handles the superb cowboy pitching so well. Outfielder Ben Bancroft, an all-star in 1959, has been over the .300 mark all

CARL BOULDIN
Cincinnati Hotshot

But the boy the scouts were waiting to grab was Gene Lenderman, senior outfielder, who has been on a home run tear this spring. Gordon Wiss, junior catcher, is another solid puncher.

Kansas surprised the enemy with Gerald Waldschmidt, sophomore right-hander, and Catcher Tom Dorney, a transfer from Spring Hill, Ala.

Kansas State was just beginning to uncover some shining lights as another last place finish was being made more bearable.

Elsewhere around the Midlands, others were reaching for stardom. Little Central College of Fayette, Mo., had 6 men the pros were after, Coach Bob Brasher reported.

Among them were Sherm Hamel, Stan Heidman and Henry Hall, all long ball hitters. Ray Wilson, William Jewell third baseman, was expecting an offer as well as Don Goodwin, Rockhurst hot-corner man. Both are seniors.

Slugging Bud Powell of Oklahoma Baptist, high up in the NAIA batting ranks, and several Omaha stars all have enjoyed good seasons. Bob Dostal and Larry Kozeny have looked sharp on the mound for Omaha, while Jack Vaccaro and Joe Neuberger have been the big men at the plate.

St. Louis has 3 sluggers deserving of recognition in John Jones, Jim Helein and Tom Trost. Washington of St. Louis had a winning hurler in Fritz Blasberg, low in the earned run department. Bradley had a pair of hitting aces in Catcher Joe Napoli and Len Albert. Hal Kunkel was enjoying another fine year on the hill. Cincinnati had a strong 1-2-3 mound punch in Carmine Lemma, Bill Faul and Carl Bouldin.

While the above list of names should make rough pickings for all-star selectors, it should make great pickings for the scouts, and some enjoyable days for the coaches.

DISTRICT 5 NOTES: Walt (Tozz) Robinson, Drake coach, is resigning to enter the automobile business. . . Joe Mowry Jr., St. Louis U. senior infielder, is the son of the Boston Braves outfielder of 1933-34-35. . . Ouachita made a dramatic rise to the top of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference standings, beating contending Arkansas State Teachers, 6-2, on a ninth-inning grand slam homer by Winston Bryant.

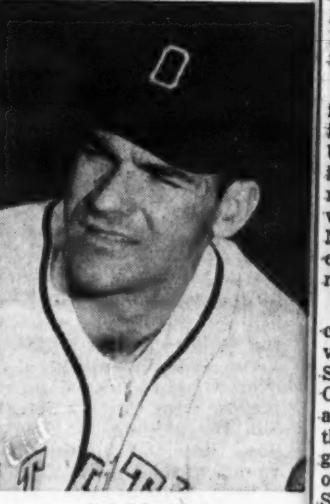

In his first mound appearance of the season, Omaha's Larry Kozeny threw a no-hitter to beat Rockhurst, 1-0. Omaha, runner-up in the 1959 NAIA national meet, won 14 of its first 16 starts with a rebuilt unit. Coach Virgil Yelkin said his rookie club was just beginning to jell at the mid-May mark.

Dick Soergel, Oklahoma State, was within 1 out of his seventh straight victory when Colorado suddenly erupted for 4 runs and a 4-3 victory. Gordon Wiss's homer capped the rally. The Cowboys won the nightcap, 13-2, and took the series the next day when sophomore Jim Wixson 1-hit the Buffs, 1-0. Colorado's Phil Word lost a 3-hitter in the brilliant duel reeled off in 1 hour, 47 minutes.

George Kernek, Oklahoma, and Ron Cox, Missouri, swung heavy bats for their teams over a 2-week span. Kernek had a grand slam against Missouri and a 3-run homer against Kansas State. Cox powered a grand slam against Oklahoma and 3-run wallop on successive days against Iowa State.

The DeMaster brothers teamed up to give Central of Iowa an 8-7 victory over Grinnell in 11

JIM DOBSON
Cowboy Slugger

innings. The winning run scored when Glenn DeMaster singled, stole second, advanced to third on Mark DeCook's infield hit and scored on Lee DeMaster's sacrifice fly.

Northeastern Oklahoma A & M continued its domination of Oklahoma junior college competition, taking the league crown for the eighth straight year and then winning the regional play-off. Coached by Homa Thomas, the Norsemen compiled a 21-3 record. Gene Hart, third sacker, led the hitters with .432 and Ron Pinkerton topped the hurlers at 54

Joe Haines of Kansas City University spoiled the day for a large Parents Day turnout at Rockhurst by pitching the Kangaroos to a 2-1 victory. Haines gave up 4 hits, 3 to Tim Sullivan, and snuffed out 2 late Hawkeye rallies.

Stan Heidman of Central (Mo.) made the most of a 6-for-15 batting spree. All of his hits were homers. Sherm Hamel played a large part in helping Central earn a sweep over William Jewell. In the 4-3 opener, he homered, then ignited a late rally with a double. He popped out a 3-run homer in the nightcap.

The Kansas infield, guilty of loose play early in the season, turned in an errorless 3-game performance as the Jayhawks took 2 from Colorado. In Coach Floyd Temple's innerworks were Marion Bryant at short, Don Culp at second, Lloyd Nichols at first and Doyle Schick at third.

7 Teams Seeking District 1 Berth

By BILL NEWELL

HARTFORD, Conn.—The brief but intense, rain-splattered and wind-blown New England college baseball season is heading into the home stretch with at least 7 teams in contention for the District 1 NCAA playoffs sometime the first week in June.

Five teams are bidding for probably 3 playoff berths while the fourth goes automatically to the Yankee Conference champion.

Amherst Coach Paul Eckley, the District 1 selection committee chairman, has already stated that there will be no repetition of last year's situation when Connecticut was picked outright because it hadn't lost a game. The UConn flocked in Omaha, 1 reason being that they had not played a game for 3 weeks.

According to Eckley and his publicity man, Peter Schrag, the District 1 picture shapes up thusly with a week remaining in the New England season:

YANKEE CONFERENCE—Connecticut, with a brilliant earned run average of 1.45 for its pitching staff, leads with 8-2. Maine is 7-2 and has 1 rained-out game still to be played with New Hampshire. However Maine is uncertain over the re-scheduling of the game and if it is not played the title goes to the UConn.

INDEPENDENTS: Springfield 9-2-1, Holy Cross 8-1, Colby 9-3, Boston College 10-3 and American International 9-4 very much in running.

Connecticut's staunch pitching and good defense have given it best record in district at 12-1. UConn have given up but 2 runs in last 35 innings. Sophomore righthander Roland Sheldon walked first batter he faced at New Hampshire and then not another. He has walked only 1 man in 32 innings this spring.

District 1 selection committee composed of Eckley, Henry Butova of American International, Vic Stout of Boston University and Gene Flynn of Holy Cross met at Amherst May 26 to determine the playoff teams and sites of games. All playoffs will be on college campuses this year, as Springfield's Eastern League Pynchon Park ruled out.

Among leading candidates for All-New England honors are Colby Catcher Dave Seddon, Maine Pitcher Dick Colwell, Amherst First baseman Fred Kelley, Springfield Pitcher Bob Weickel (4-0), Massachusetts' Outfielder Bob Eichorn, AIC Outfielder Lew Randall, and from Connecticut, Outfielder George Uhl, Shortstop Tony Attanasio (1 error in 59 chances), and Pitchers John Risley (3-0), Brad Leach (3-1) and Sheldon (2-0).

DISTRICT 1 NOTES: Bob Schugman (.372) and Weickel (1.4 ERA in 52 innings) are leading Springfield (9-2-1). Amherst (6-4) is spearheaded by Kelley (4.32) and Dick Drew (2-3 and 1.05 ERA). Connecticut (12-1) is headed by Jack Nocera (.437), George Uhl (.400) and John Risley (3-0 and 0.56 ERA). Risley also has a .347 batting average in 8 games. Herb Hodos' .307 average and Stu Beattie's .77 earned-run-average top Yale.

Blackbirds Clinch League Crown

NEW YORK—Long Island University's Blackbirds retained their mastery over Knickerbocker Baseball Conference foes by downing Queens, 4-2, to clinch the league championship. The title is the third straight for the Blackbirds and their fifth in the past 7 seasons.

With only 1 league test remaining, Coach Buck Lai's nine had won 8 games and lost none. The Long Island Aggies were second with a 5-2 mark.

'The Rainmakers'

DeKALB, Ill.—Northern Illinois could be called "The Rainmakers." Of the first 12 scheduled conference games, 7 were rained out. Northern won 2 of the 5.

Gophers Near Title

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—Despite a .500 weekend Minnesota's Golden Gophers still lead the Big 10 Conference.

The Gophers pushed their conference record to 9-2-1 by defeating Illinois, 9-1, and then in a doubleheader with Purdue lost 6-3, and saw a second game called at 7-7 because of rain.

Northwestern stayed in contention by defeating Michigan 3-2, and splitting a doubleheader with Wisconsin.

Ohio State and Indiana, rained out of their Friday game, played a unique tripleheader last Saturday. Indiana won the opener, 10-3, but Ohio State won the other 2 games, 3-2 and 11-8. The tripleheader was played at Columbus, Ohio.

Ohio University already is the champion of the Mid-American Conference and is qualified for the District 4 playoff.

DISTRICT 4 NOTES: St. Joseph's Pumas stretched their win streak to 5 by bouncing Huntington College twice. It also put them above the .500 mark for the first time with a 7-5 slate. Quincy College (12-6) has a .310 team average, with Steve Frost (.413), Don Kabbes (.411) and Rich Schaefer (.404) the leaders. Concordia Teachers (7-5) is paced by Jim Boldt's .394. Captain Carroll Bridges tops Southern Illinois hitters with a .403 average. Roger McKnight's 3-0 and sparkling .90 earned run average leads the hurlers.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS (5-6) is headed by Joe Blume's .333. Bob Reider heads St. Mary's (Minn.) batters at .341. Jim Fisher (.385) and Bob Johnson (4-0) lead Wittenburg. Dick Mrozinski's .309 is high among Central Michigan regulars. Roger Lapetus is hitting an even .400 for Wayne State (4-4). Ohio (15-2) is headed by Larry Thomas (.392) and Ted Stute (6-0). Western Michigan's Frank Quilici is hitting .396.

Illinois (18-8) is headed by Pitchers Ernie Kumerow and Paul Arneson, both with 5-1 records, and Bud Felicio, with a .362 average. Michigan State (11-8) is topped by Bill Schudlich's .313 and Mickey Sinks' 4-2 pitching record. Denny Lundgren (.382) and Tom Metcalf (5-1) lead Northwestern (14-6). Pitchers Larry Bertelsen (6-0), Clyde Nelson (5-1) and Howard Nather (4-1) top Minnesota. Wayne Knapp has clubbed 6 home runs, as has John Erickson.

Maryland Team Captures Title

ASHLAND, Va.—Western Maryland bounced Randolph-Macon twice by similar 5-3 scores to capture the Mason-Dixon Conference championship.

The Maryland club, champion of the northern section of the league, thus finished with an overall 9-2 loop record, while Randolph-Macon, southern king, was 8-3.

Overall, Western Maryland was 14-7 and its opponent was 17-6.
